Hello. My name is June-ko. I'm in charge of Interpreting, Phonetics, Discussion and Debate, and Communication. Interpreting is an interesting field, which opens up doors to situations and people one would never meet or encounter normally. It is a field where one can continue growing and studying. Phonetics is important because sounds are a vital part of our daily lives, and essential for communication. Interpreting activities at Meikai include participating in interpreting contests, interpreting guide tours, training, interpreting camps, interpreting OJT's (on-the-job training) etc. In Discussion and Debate, we learn to discuss and debate topics from a wide range of fields. Discussion and Debate practice makes it possible to talk more freely impromptu about issues that affect our daily lives. Communication looks at different forms of communication in a practical format, ranging from one-on-one negotiation to persuasive speech to written communication. I look forward to seeing you in class or at the interpreting activities.
